Position

Short description of your personal attitude towards the subject of interior design (motivation)

Why do you think you deserve the INTERIOR SCHOLARSHIP?

What do you expect from the INTERIOR SCHOLARSHIP?

Impromptu task (maximum of 2 pages)

To have or to be?
New spaces of the sharing community

In many visionary approaches to social coexistence, sharing replaces the idea of owning. On swap markets you can exchange or borrow, coworking spaces provide peer-to-peer workplaces, you get to know the world as a couch surfer, the garden cooperative supplies you with organic vegetables.

What new public places are created by this?
What needs do these new places have to meet?
To what extent does this shift the relationship between public and private space?
How does this affect our approach to interior spaces?

Examine the different aspects of the sharing community.
Take up a partial aspect-relevant for you-and develop a spatial idea / attitude / interpretation of it.

Convey your idea in sketches, drawings, renderings, films, model photos, collages and complement them with text.

Your performances

As the winner of the scholarship, you will be required to:

1. Presence for an interview in September 2020 (travel costs will be reimbursed):
